AT THE RESORTS.

The Saltair theatre has closed temporarily—perhaps permanently. For some reason the crowds didn't take to the new venture. Dancing and bathing have always been the main features at Saltair and, where dancing is bliss 'tis folly to be theatre—so there you are.

Elks' "Purple Day" will be on July 29th. There will be horse racing at Agricultural park early in the afternoon. After the Sheephead Bay pastime, the Elks will herd on the green pastures at Saltair. Booths, side-shows and other things will bring the Zionite the glittering glories of Coney island. Purple day promises to be the purplest thing that ever happened near the village. Col. Dan Loftus, as usual, will be many times in evidence. As a get there "Colonel," Dan always leads the home guard.

If you use a telephone—and who doesn't—go up to Lagoon today and see Dave Murray's flock of hello-girls perform away from the switch board. There will be a little of everything doing at Lagoon today and doing every minute, too. "Billy" Brown, with his rosy cheeks will be on hand with a face full of new smiles.

The local Japs are going to show the land lubbers of Salt Lake how Admiral Togo trimmed the Russians in the late naval engagement. Calder's park lake is the scene of the mimic warfare which takes place tonight and Monday evening. You had better go down-ski to the park-ski and see the little brown man go some.

Mr. Martin as "Baron Von Hohenstauffen" in the "New Dominion," is winning popular favor and creating a commotion at the Utahna theatre box office, a combination devoutly to be wished as one Shakespeare has declared. Mr. Martin is said to compare favorably with Clay Clements in the role of the German aristocratic.

Victory Bateman, after drifting on the theatric rocks at Saltair, will find her feet in pleasant places when she treads the boards of the Utahna stage next Monday evening. Miss Bateman who needs no introduction to Salt Lake, has a host of admirers in the sleepy town, who are ready to wake up and give her a welcome that will appeal to her professional pride as an actress.

Miss Bateman will appear in an emotional drama, "Mother and Son," with a strong supporting cast, special scenery and elaborate stage mountings.

The Utahna management is to be congratulated on securing such a talented actress as Miss Bateman, who will remain with the company during the summer season.

At Utahna park the open air vaudeville is crowded every night. The lads and lassies are also attracted by the smoothness of the maple wood dancing floor.

Tuesday at the saucer track was a "hummer." It was also a "spiller," as there were several of them.

Iver Lawson went after the world's quarter mile record held by Samuelson. He tried hard to get it, but failed to land and the proud trophy still dangles on the belt of the husky Provo boy. Iver failed by a fifth of a second to make good. His magnificent attempt was worth the price of admission.

What's the matter with Hopper? He was once full of snap and ginger, but now the fire seems to have died out of the Minnesota lad. What's the matter, Hopper? You'll have to hurry.

The Williams Juvenile Opera company continue to please the crowds under the multi-colored dome of the Salt Palace theatre.

All the resorts are preparing great programs for the glaucous Fourth. There will be plenty of red fire and fireworks for everybody.

The Young Men's Republican club will have a royal outing next month at the Salt Palace.

The eagle will scream as never before in the town and the Republicans will take occasion to sharpen their knives for the coming campaign. It's a sure bet that the Young Men's Republican club will do things in proper form.

JONAS CONCERT.

The great musical event of recent date was the performance of the pianist, Jonas, at the Salt Lake theatre on Wednesday evening. Mr. Jonas is not a stranger in Salt Lake. He has given magnificent, no, exquisite is the word, performances here before, but none equalled that of Thursday evening. The program in the main was classical, but there was enough of the more popular kind to make it enjoyable to the less skilled and less critical part of the audience. It was a series of triumphs from beginning to end and at times the audience became ultra enthusiastic. Willard Weihe as violinist, almost rivaled the great Jonas himself in the appreciation of the audience.

Professor McClellan, an old pupil of Mr. Jonas, was the manager of the concert and is to be congratulated on the thorough success of the occasion.

MUSICAL RECITAL BY MISS GLEASON'S PUPILS.

Friday evening at Unity hall the pupils of Miss Nora Gleason assisted by the Utah Ladies' Quartette, Miss Mulvey and Miss Harris, gave a musical recital which was well attended and greatly enjoyed. Miss Gleason was highly complimented on the efficiency shown by her pupils. It was strong evidence of the care and superior skill which their teacher had bestowed upon them. The programme was quite lengthy and varied in character including a wide range of musical pieces.

WILL SING AT ST. PAUL'S.

Tomorrow, at the morning services at St. Paul's church, Willard Foster will sing a "Te Deum Laudamus" of his own composition, assisted by other vocalists of ability. Those who have heard the music say it is one of the best compositions they have ever listened to and that it is destined to be a great success. Mr. Foster is a son of Warren Foster and has several excellent compositions to his credit.

YALE WON BOAT RACE.

If this business doesn't stop D. A. Callahan, Robert J. Jessup and the other Yale men in this city will go insane. First Yale beat Harvard in the ball game and now comes the information that Harvard was second when the boats came in after the race at New London. It was a tight old race, too, and Yale only won by the length of an oar. It was a heart breaking finish and the sight must have been an inspiring one. Callahan was present last year and had a good time, but since reading the morning papers he has been in a sort of trance because he didn't go back this year. As for Jessup, why he is all smiles and declares the boys are just as lively as they were when he pulled stroke and held down second bag.

BALL TEAM DISBANDED.

It is all off with the base ball team here and also in Ogden. The two teams have disbanded and the players are scattered. It is too bad, but it seems as if it cannot be helped. Perhaps next year we will do better. But we must get in better company. We should enter the Pacific coast league; play with Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Portland and towns like that. What business have we with little places like Ogden, Boise and Butte? None. The last game at Ogden had 400 people in attendance. One hundred dollars at the gate and all expenses to come out of it. Pass them up next year and let's have some base ball.

His Interpretation.

In his battle with spruces and pines of Maine the late millionaire lumberman, Milton G. Shaw of Bath, devoted little time to improving his penmanship. Years ago Mr. Shaw employed as a foreman for his crews about Moosehead lake Hiram Chadbourne of Harmony. Chadbourne hired many of the loggers, and in the autumn held himself in readiness to start at a word from the lumber king.

One fall Chadbourne received a letter from Bath, but he couldn't read a word of it. However, he hired several men and proceeded to Greenville. Arriving, he bought half a pint of new rum and repaired to the Lake House. He entered, shook hands with Mr. Shaw, handed him the flask of rum and awaited the explosion which he knew would follow.

"See here, Hi, what do you mean? You know I never touch liquor."

"Didn't you send for rum?" asked Chadbourne, innocently. "That's all I could make out of your letter."

Ever-Present Worry.

The core of the unhappiness of the world's workers is not that they have to work, or that they are deprived of things they would like to have, but the eternal, haunting vision of the time when their working days will be over.

YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

To visit the "Old Home" and the "Old Friends" in the east and return to the west, with as little expense as is ordinarily required to make the one-way trip, has come.
